SKIN PEELS IMPROVE THE SKIN

What is a Skin Peel? The Skin Peel Defined

A skin peel, also known as a chemical peel, is a science-based treatment that, when properly administered, offers one of the most powerful non-surgical skin improvements available. It involves the application of highly specialized acid and enzyme solutions to remove damaged layers of cells from the skin's outer surface – revealing more glowing, youthful skin.

How Can a Skin Peel Improve My Skin? Scientific Proven Benefits

By removing cellular buildup and stimulating skin regeneration, a skin peel will offer measurable improvement in reducing wrinkles and fine lines, pore size and oil production while clearing blemishes and improving the skin's texture, tone and hydration – for a more vibrant skin appearance. Skin peels may be especially beneficial in the treatment of hyperpigmentation, rosacea, acne, sun damage and photo aging.

Which Skin Peel is Right for Me?

Progressive Peel

A progressive is the mildest course of treatment, removing only the outer layer of the stratum corneum with no visible peeling. Repeated treatments on a regular schedule, up to once a week for 6 weeks, then once a month, will cause mild exfoliation of the skin with cumulative effects. This is best described as a mild, yet refining peel.

Mid-Depth Peel

A mid-depth skin peel targets the intra-epidermal layer, skin exfoliation occurs within two to three days of treatment. Light flaking may occur, similar to a sunburn peel. This peel may be administered every four to six weeks. A mid-depth peel can offer rejuvenative effects with minimal to no down time.

What Can I Expect After My Skin Peel?

Recovery and Post Peel Treatment

Due to the level of skin exfoliation associated with skin peels, clients may expect some discomfort following treatment. While a majority of clients describe any discomfort as very manageable, experiences may vary depending on the type of skin peel and an individual's pain tolerance. Most clients agree that any discomfort is offset by the dramatic improvements attained in skin appearance. Post-care treatment will include occlusive healing balms, epidermal growth factor for cell renewal and wound repair, calming topicals to reduce itching and inflammation and sunscreen. Like all our formulations, post-care products are free of dyes, fragrances and additives.

After skin has healed, daily skin care is essential to maintaining results.

NEW! REFORMULATION

Super C Serum is now replaced with C-Peptide Complex

Vitamin C and peptides are amazing and effective skin care ingredients on their own, but what makes the combination of the two so powerful in promoting younger looking skin? We know that DNA damage caused by free radicals is the number one skin ager and antioxidants work to counteract the effects. We also know collagen production helps support healthy, youthful looking skin. So the combination of vitamin C and peptides – which provide antioxidants and promote collagen synthesis – address these very needs.
